Omada and Edgile Partner to Deliver Best-in-Class Security Solutions

Driving Thought Leadership and Bringing Visibility to Identity Management and Compliance Solutions

Stamford, Connecticut and San Jose, California – April 9, 2010: Omada and Edgile announce today a new strategic partnership. This partnership will enable the two companies to deliver Omada identity management and compliance solutions and bring better business value to more and even bigger customers.

Edgile has had years of success in delivering tailored, enterprise-wide security solutions with a focus on business value and risk.

Omada helps clients achieve compliance, security and organizational efficiency by providing business centric solutions within identity management and compliance.

"Omada has a decade of experience in developing solutions on Microsoft technology. As both parties are Microsoft Gold partners, this creates a synergistic advantage for everyone", says Don Elledge, CEO, Edgile. "With the latest Omada Suite for Microsoft Forefront Identity Manager 2010, I feel confident that we can deliver better business value to our major enterprise customers."

"Edgile approaches identity management and compliance from a business-needs angle, which complements the business-centric Omada solutions", says Morten Boel Sigurdsson, CEO of Omada Inc. "Their people have an enviable depth and breadth of knowledge and experience, and I know they will make an excellent Partner."
